

Built Offsite, the UK's leading provider of Education Building solutions utilising Modern Methods of Construction, has today (22nd January 2018) announced a full rebrand and unveiled its new corporate identity.

Effective immediately, Built Offsite will be known as Darwin Group Limited, a name that reflects the proud heritage of our headquarters location in Shrewsbury, Shropshire (the birthplace of Charles Darwin) and our commitment to the continued evolution of the construction industry.

Darwin Group is a Modern Methods of Construction pioneer, offering a broad range of services, to clients in both the public and private sector, looking to deliver new building solutions. Our long term and rapidly growing client base stand as testament to the way that Darwin Group supports customers at all stages of their building needs, from feasibility, design and planning through to construction and final handover.

The new name better represents our vision for the future of construction. Darwin Group new look and tagline "Construction has Evolved" demonstrates our commitment to innovation – pushing the boundaries of construction processes beyond conventional stereotypes. Darwin Group provides all the benefits of traditional construction whilst reducing time spent onsite, significantly mitigating disruption to clients and other stakeholders.

Richard Pierce, Managing Director and Chairman of Darwin Group commented: "I am delighted to announce that Built Offsite is now rebranded as Darwin Group. We are excited to roll out our new name and look, and feel that it celebrates our investment in innovative construction technologies, our vision and the clients we serve. This rebrand forms a vital part of our growth strategy – we are an established business that has disrupted the way in which conventional contracting companies continue to manage construction projects and are committed to further developing Offsite building solutions to benefit our clients".